

#LaunchAmerica

Social Media Toolkit

Welcome to the new age of spaceflight.

WHO: NASA astronauts Michael Hopkins, Victor Glover, Shannon Walker and JAXA astronaut Soichi Noguchi

WHAT: The launch of NASA and SpaceX's Crew-1 Mission which marks NASA and SpaceX's first certified commercial launch of astronauts to the International Space Station.

WHERE: Historic Launch Complex 39A at Kennedy Space Center in Florida

WHEN: Live launch coverage begins Nov. 15 at 3:00 p.m. EDT [8:00 p.m. UTC] and liftoff is targeted for Nov.15 at 7:27 p.m. EDT [12:27 a.m. UTC]

WHY: With the certification of the SpaceX Crew Dragon spacecraft, human spaceflight has returned to the U.S., allowing more frequent flights to the International Space Station to conduct scientific research that benefits humanity on Earth.

5 Ways To Join Virtually

Here are 5 ways you can join our global, virtual launch party:

1. Set a reminder to watch our live coverage on Sunday, Nov. 15, starting at 3:00 p.m. EDT [8:00 p.m. UTC] on NASA TV [www.nasa.gov/live] or @NASA social media accounts.
2. Host a virtual watch party while you're social distancing and encourage others to do so too!
3. Fill out, download and print your virtual boarding pass for your trip aboard Crew Dragon Resilience.
4. On Instagram, take a virtual trip to Kennedy Space Center and watch as the SpaceX Falcon 9 rocket and Crew Dragon spacecraft take flight in your glasses in our Launch America @ NASA and Launch America @ Home filters.
5. Join the conversation on social media using #LaunchAmerica.
